

ERRORS IN THE USE OF PREPOSITIONS

1. As you are my younger/ brother so I shall/ take care of you/No error (d)
2. He had hardly seen/ me so he came/ to me running/No error (d)
3. I will die some/ day since all men/ are mortal/No error (d)
4. No sooner we reached/ the stadium, it started/ raining cats and dogs/No error (d)
5. Zia was not in a/ good mood, therefore/ I did not talk to her/No error (d)
6. Because he is intelligent,/ therefore, everybody / likes him/No error (d)
7. I was reading the/ newspaper, at that time/ Sachin came to me/No error (d)
8. Both Zia as well/ as Mala are/ beautiful/No error (d)
9. Two weeks have/ passed since I have/ seen him/ No error (d)
10. I took the/ medicine that/ I might get well/No error (d)
11. Supposing if he/ misses the train,/ will he come back?/No error (d)
12. Both Madhu and/ Sudha did not attend/ school yesterday/No error (d)
13. She is equally/ honest as/ her sister/No error (d)
14. He is neither happy/ with relative nor/ he is happy with his friends/No error (d)
15. All is not right/ that is/ expedient/No error (d)
16. He took another/ path from the/ one I showed him/No error (d)
17. Moving on the/ grass I saw/ a snake/No error (d)
18. As soon as the bell/ rang then the students/ rushed out of their classes/No error (d)
19. The choice is between/ glorious death/ or shameful life/No error (d)
20. This book is/ as good, if not/ better than that/No error (d)
21. Although she is/ foolish but people/ like her/No error (d)
22. The accident took/ place as the train/ was crossing a bridge/No error (d)
23. May you pass/ or not,/ I don't care/No error (d)
24. Any fast he may/ run, he cannot catch/ the train/ No error (d)
25. Work hard/ lest you may/ not fail/No error (d)